

A Word From the President of Veracity Aviation

Happy New Year! 2008 brought adversity and many challenges to us throughout the year. It also brought many opportunities and accomplishments for us to enjoy as well. Some of the opportunities were the creation of our very own company and the opportunity to bring a level of service to the helicopter industry that has long since fallen away. In February of 2008, this opportunity was given to us on a silver platter and we were fortunate and blessed to have the ability to take advantage of the situation. Some of our accomplishments are in our students that have been able to realize their dreams by completing their desired pilot certificate. We provided training for 21 pilot certificates and three instructor certificates. While most of the year we operated with one R-22, we now have a full flight training program with three helicopters, including a brand new R-44 Raven II and a complete Robinson Service Center to boot. The modest success we have seen is due to the honest, hard work and dedication to our customers from the staff of Veracity Aviation. And we truly appreciate with our deepest regards the customers, vendors and partners that gave us a shot to make this all happen. In 2009 we look forward to continuing to improve our customer service through improving our own systems, procedures and overall customer appreciation. You can rest assured that when you hire Veracity Aviation, your requested service will be treated as our #1 priority and we will strive to exceed your expectations.

Fly safe,
Derrick
