

A Word From the President of Veracity Aviation

January proved to be a very productive month for a number of our students. Patrick Scrogin and Luke Boedeker both completed their CFI (certified flight instructor) rating. Brain Fagley completed his rotorcraft instrument rating as well. We congratulate those guys whose hard work has finally paid off. The overhaul rebuild on one of our R-22's is about complete with just flight-testing to go. This project has been the first real test and difficult challenge for Veracity Maintenance, and the team definitely stepped up to the plate and made it happen on time and on budget. February looks like we will be gaining some steam with new students and commercial work coming back online. We are looking forward to serving you continuously in the future for all your helicopter needs.

Fly safe,

Derrick

Luke Boedeker

Luke owns an agricultural spray company in Childress, TX. Luke purchased a R-22 helicopter about a year ago that he completed his commercial add-on certificate in. Since then he has been flying it surveying fields for his spray planes, doing other agricultural work in it and flying just for fun. Luke decided during his off-season to go ahead and pursue his CFI certificate. So we began in December and had him complete late January. Congratulations Luke!
